

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES.

Vol. VIII. No. 280

Gettysburg, Pa. Wednesday, September 14 1916

Price Two Cents

This Store

Open Evenings
Until
8 O'clock

ECKERT'S STORE,
"ON THE SQUARE"

AT THE WALTER THEATRE TO-NIGHT HEARTS ADRIFT

The aeroplane drama

One of the most delightful plays of the season

Prices 35, 50 and 75

Special two front rows for children at 35 cents

Doors open 7.30

Curtain 8.15

A LITTLE MISUNDERSTANDING

That is all. Mrs. Zahn, the Ferndell lady, is here this week. She will call at the homes of all our regular Ferndell customers and if there are any others who wish to sample this superior line of goods phone to us or let us know in some way and she will be glad to call and show you the entire line or any article in which you may be interested.

Gettysburg Department Store.

WIZARD THEATRE

KALEM WESTERN

EDISON

Pure Gold

Kalem Western

This picture is particularly notable for the strong contrast drawn between the up-to-date life in Wall St. and the frenzied mining camps of the West

The Lady and the Burglar

Edison

The story in this film is splendidly sustained from start to finish and the picture is up to the high Edison standard

THE QUALITY SHOP

TIME IS HERE TO THINK ABOUT YOUR FALL SUIT
We are here to help you get the very best the season affords.
Our Woolens comprise the very Latest and Best Productions of foreign and Domestic Mills.

Our Experience and Ability to make you a Snappy, Becoming Suit insure you the Satisfaction that will make you a Permanent Customer.
SELIGMAN & McILHENNY

REDUCTIONS

On all our low shoes

Men's and Women's greatly reduced in price.

All our Straw Hats at and below cost.

D. J. REILE, 13 Chambersburg St., Gettysburg, Pa

Young Men of Better Taste

are breaking away from the "Chollyboy" style in clothing—Preferring the more conservative effects, that while right up to the minute in style and full of individuality yet are not "Freakish."

The Suits We Make Reflect that Good Taste

J. D. LIPPY, Tailor.

Early Apples Wanted

We will load early apples at McKnightstown and Orrtanna paying highest prices according to varieties. We are also buying late varieties. For further information phone Bream's store, Cashtown.

J. W. SHAFTON & CO., Chicago, Illinois

LOCUST POSTS

All sizes and kinds. Several thousand of them.

Length 7 feet 2 inches or we will cut to any size.

Diameter at the top 5, 3 or 2 inches. Also sawed posts for board fence. Apply to

HOLBERT A. MYERS,

J. H. WIDDER,

Dickinson, Pa.

Gettysburg

Or Knoxlyn Farm

OPENING OF COLLEGE

With New President and a General Good Feeling, the Institution will Begin a New Era Thursday. Important Athletic Changes.

On Thursday morning with the ringing of the chapel bell Gettysburg College will begin a new era. The present school term introduces to the many Gettysburg supporters not a new school, but one of seventy-nine years existence breathing new life and inoculated with twentieth century ideas.

The number of entries for the Freshman and other classes will number between seventy and eighty. It was rumored that a number of men in the Junior and Senior classes would not return to finish at Gettysburg. This report has been disproved, the upper classes are all back, with one or two exceptions, and the class rolls have been increased.

College opens for work at 8 o'clock Thursday morning and each train is bringing in a happy bunch of Orange and Blue enthusiasts.

There is something very encouraging about the new life that seems to have been taken up by the student body during the summer months. The atmosphere surrounding the college is inspiring every one wants to lend a helping hand.

Coch. Fred C. Vail arrived on Tuesday afternoon and will get the foot ball squad out for practice today. The prospects for a team this fall are anything but bright. Much of the material is new and the many changes in the rules will require the hardest kind of work to round up a winning team.

The Athletic Board of Directors has been materially changed. In former years the student body and faculty managed all branches of athletics. At the meeting of the board in June the executive committee was given authority to act on the appointment of an alumni manager and to choose one member of the alumni association to act on the Athletic Council. This places athletics on a good and much more substantial basis.

The arrangements for the inauguration of President Granville, which will take place on Thursday October 20, have not yet been completed.

The committee has been busy for weeks planning to make the coming event one of the greatest celebrations in the recent history of the college.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Stock, of Hanover, chairman of the committee in charge of inaugural arrangements, was in town on Tuesday. Dr. Stock is spending every effort to make the twentieth of October a brilliant date in college history. It is expected Governor Stuart, A. Phelps Stokes, and possibly President Hadley, of Yale, will be among the distinguished visitors.

A lively demonstration by the student body is anticipated, which will be followed by a foot ball game between Dickinson and Gettysburg.

Alumni from all over the country have announced their intention of being present and nothing will be spared to make this launching of the new administration a day never to be forgotten.

H. D. HEMLER

Hamilton D. Hemler died at his home in Harrisburg on Wednesday after a brief illness aged about 70 years.

The deceased was a native of Mount Pleasant township and moved to Harrisburg many years ago. He was prominently identified with the business interests of Harrisburg, and was president of the Merchants' Bank and Trust Company of that city.

He had many friends in Adams county who will learn of his death with regret.

The deceased is survived by his second wife and several daughters.

A bunch of nice ewe lambs and sheep for sale or to put out on shares. Address box 143, Gettysburg.

The P. O. S. of A. of Cashtown will hold its annual picnic in the Grove of John P. Burke, at McKnightstown on Saturday, Sept. 17. There will be two games of baseball. All are cordially invited.

FOR SALE—20 acres of ground in Cumberland township. House, frame stable and all necessary out buildings. An excellent place to raise poultry. Apply to H. A. Legore, R. D. 3

Wanted a young man to assist in Huber's drug store.

Bicycle for sale. Apply at Times

Eat Ziegler's bread

Alice Miller, teacher of piano and organ. No. 330 Baltimore street.

WEDDED IN MASSACHUSETTS

Henry W. Bikle, Pennsylvania Railroad Attorney and Son of Dr. Bikle, of This Place, Married at Northampton.

On Wednesday afternoon at half past three o'clock Henry Wolf Bikle, son of Dr. Bikle, Dean of Gettysburg College, was united in marriage to Miss Lucy Leffingwell Cable, of Northampton, Massachusetts.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride, number 23 Drayds Green, Northampton.

Mr. Bikle is a graduate of Gettysburg College, class of '98, afterwards completing a course in law at the University of Pennsylvania. A few years after graduation from law school Mr. Bikle accepted a position as corporate attorney for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Dr. and Mrs. Bikle accompanied by their son Phillip left on Monday afternoon to attend the nuptials. The Pennsylvania Railroad, in manifestation of their good wishes, placed a private car at the disposal of the groom.

Mr. Bikle left Philadelphia on Monday evening a 8.40 for Northampton. After arriving in Massachusetts a reception was given for the ushers in Mr. Bikle's private car.

Miss Cable is the daughter of Mr. George W. Cable. The many friends of Mr. Bikle join in extending them all the best wishes for a happy wedded career.

BASE BALL

The game on Tuesday evening between the St. James and Methodist teams was called on account of darkness. Only four innings were played. The required number to decide a contest being five. This will necessitate another game between the two teams to determine whether or not the St. James team will meet the Catholics for a final game.

The contest was more of a continuous argument than a base ball game. St. James was represented by Hartzel and Schriver at battery positions. Beard and Smiley performed for the Methodists. Score 1 to 0 in favor of the Methodist team.

SUPERIOR SISTER DEAD

Mother Mary Clement, superior general of the Sisters of St. Joseph of the Roman Catholic church for 22 years, died at the convent of the Order at Chestnut Hill, a suburb, on Saturday night. She had under her authority more than 600 sisters of St. Joseph, who are scattered over the eastern section of the United States. At Chestnut Hill Mother Mary was head of Mount St. Joseph Collegiate institute, one of the most exclusive Catholic educational institutions for girls in the United States, its students coming from every part of the country. She was 70 years old.

The St. Joseph's Academy at Emmitsburg was within the jurisdiction of Mother Mary Clement and her governing influence was long felt over the St. Joseph's Institute.

FINE APPLES

Mr. C. E. Rice, of Biglerville route 2, presented the Times office with a large basket of the choicest apples seen here this season. Mr. Rice has potatoes known as American Wonder, that measure nine and a half inches in length. The Times extends its thanks to Mr. Rice for his generosity.

COMING EVENTS

Sept. 27—Pennsylvania monument dedication.

Caught a Tartar.

Mary was a buxom country lass, and her father was an upright deacon in a Connecticut village. Mary's plan of joining the boys and girls in a nutting party was frustrated by the unexpected arrival of a number of the "brethren" on their way to conference, and Mary had to stay at home and get dinner for her father's clerical guests. Her already ruffled temper was increased by the reverend visitors themselves, who sat about the stove and in the way.

One of the good ministers noticed the wrathful impudence and, desiring to rebuke the sinful manifestations, said sternly, "Mary, what do you think will be your occupation in hell?" "Pretty much the same as it is on earth," she replied, "cooking for ministers."

FOR SALE—Residence of J. W. C. O'Neal on government ground, 136 Baltimore street. Will receive sealed bids for property until Dec. 1, 1916.

P. C. Sowers, of McKnightstown, will run his cider press Tuesday and Wednesday of each week.

Eat Ziegler's bread

EXCURSIONISTS DISORDERLY

Worst Crowd of Colored People Seen in Gettysburg in Years. Rain Helped to Make Things Worse.

The colored excursion that dumped over three thousand of Baltimore's population into our town on Tuesday has left some very demoralizing impressions upon many of Gettysburg's respect ed citizens.

The conduct of the visitors who have been brought to our town at various times during the summer was fair and passable, but the sights that were seen yesterday on the streets and round the station in the evening were offensive and degrading.

It is a pitiful and humiliating scene to see a drunken man giving an exhibition of what is more becoming to a four-legged animal, but to see a drunken woman planted in the middle of Centre Square half clad and wallowing in the mud, is not pitiful, but about the most disgusting exhibition that any person would care to look upon.

The excursionists themselves expressed frank disapproval of the intemperate conduct of their party.

When the fourth section stopped at Union Station, Hanover, a number of the excursionists jumped off and ran to the Colonial Hotel to procure "liquid refreshments," returning as the train pulled out. Isaiah Topman, one of the number, in attempting to board the train, slipped and fell, breaking his right leg between the ankle and the knee.

He was carried to the waiting room and Dr. H. M. Allenman, the company physician was telephoned for, who gave the man preliminary treatment, after which he was sent to his home in Baltimore on the evening train.

BIG APPLE CROP

Adams county will have one of the biggest apple crops that this section has produced in years. The winter apples are in most parts free from scale and nearly perfect in growth.

One thing noticed by the apple growers in some parts is that very few agents have made purchases. Prices this year will be somewhat lower than last year. Many fruit buyers representing large wholesale dealers have been through the county, but will not place a price on the fruit. It is the opinion of the growers that the dealers are waiting on each other to set a price and when the prices are once arranged the buying will be all over in a few days.

MIXING THINGS UP

Tuesday night Otis Criswell and Preston Harrigan got together for a one round bout.

Criswell was sitting on a box at the Dougherty and Hartley corner and Harrigan, who was loitering around, passed some remark. It was immediately resented by the other who struck Harrigan in the eye opening a flesh wound.

The first sight of blood brought relief to the fighting mind and they vamoosed to avoid trouble with the police.

REVENUE MATTERS

H. L. Hershey, of Harrisburg who recently entered upon his fourth term as collector of the Ninth internal revenue district, embracing fifteen counties of the state, has announced that there will be no changes in the York office. Adam F. Strayer and C. Oliver McConkey will continue as inside deputy collectors and R. C. Liggitt, J. M. Wilson, G. Frank Lindemuth and W. S. Schroder outside deputy collectors.

House for rent on Baltimore street with all modern conveniences after December 1. Apply to T. J. Winebrenner.

SEED wheat for sale. L. D. Plank, R. D. 2.

WANTED: a woman for general housework in a private family, no washing. Wages $4.00. Apply to 200 North Frederick street, Mechanicsburg, Pa.

I have a 35 barrel steel tank which I will sell cheap. John F. Bishop, Aspers, Pa.

There will be a euchre and dance in Xavier Hall tomorrow evening, September 15, at 8 o'clock for the benefit of St. Francis Xavier church.

Cattle for sale—One load of small cattle, steers and heifers, bulls weigh from 400 to 600, for sale at Fuhrman's stock yards. Also will receive on Friday, September 16, three loads of steers, good feeders, weigh 700 to 900, C. T. Lower.

Eat Ziegler's Bread.

SHORT PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Brief Paragraphs Telling the News of the Town and County and of Some Places Nearby. Short Items for Quick Reading.

Mr. and Mrs. Yohe and daughter Grace are attending the Bakers' National Convention in session at Baltimore.

Miss Ida Weikert, of South Washington street, left today for Georgetown University Hospital, Washington, D. C., where she will begin training for a nurse.

Misses Alma Andrew and Edna Bowers are spending the day at Goldens station.

Mr. and Mrs. McKeever and two daughters have returned to their home in Washington after spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty on route 2.

Miss Amanda Sandoe is spending several days with her brother, H. P. Sandoe, of Biglerville.

Mrs. Alice Baugher and daughter, Miss Elizabeth left Monday for a week's visit at Atlantic City.

Miss Elizabeth VanCleave and Mrs. Evans are spending the day at Pen Mar.

Miss Edwards is visiting friends at Smithburg.

Mrs. Klinefelter, of Baltimore, is visiting at the home of Dr. Markley on York street.

Roy Homan who is visiting his parents in this place, left for a few days' visit in Waynesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Long, of Altoona, are spending some time with relatives and friends in this place.

Misses Blanch Fitzgerald of Philadelphia and Lettie Morrison, of York are visiting at the home of Rev. Sherrick on West High street.

Charles Lady is spending a week in Lehigh county.

Prof. and Mrs. W. I. Bock are spending several days among friends in town.

The Y's will meet at the home of Miss Annie Wolf on Chambersburg street on Thursday evening.

Miss Katie Radensperger left yesterday on a trip to Philadelphia and New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young and children have returned to their home in Camden, N. J., after spending several weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mumper.

It Was Quite Appropriate.

A famous divinity professor who was visiting in the north of England had been invited to preside at the church ceremony of the baptism of the last arrived infant in the already crowded house of a local minister. The guest gave out for congregational singing a paraphrase much favored on such occasions.

"Let us," said he, "sing from the fifth paraphrase, beginning at the second verse. As sparks in close succession rise."

To his consternation the congregation giggled.

Afterward, asking the "minister's man" what had been wrong, that functionary replied:

"Ye see, professor, the minister's name is Sparks, and yonder is his tenth birth."

Easing His Mind.

Jim McCleary was an old Park row newspaper dervish who hadn't had a job in years. He depended on the largess of friends of better days. His most liberal patron being a prominent writer whom Jim had "broken in" as a cub at police headquarters. Never a week went by that he didn't "slip" Jim quarters, halves and dollars, with no expectation of ever being paid back.

Suddenly Jim disappeared from Park row. He was missing for nearly a year when his old patron walked in on him in a Broadway cafe. Jim was dressed up like a Wall street mining promoter and was "opening wine."

"Why, hello, Bill! How are you?" exclaimed Jim, and too astonished to refuse, Bill joined him in a drink. As they were about to part Jim gave his friend another cordial handshake and Bill felt something pressed into his palm.

"What's this for, Jim?" he asked, opening his hand and seeing it was money.

"Bill, that's that dollar I've owed you for so long," said Jim. "I've never forgotten it, and now I'm glad it's off my mind."—New York World.

Dr. Short Was Short.

When the Rev. David Short was pastor of the Penn Avenue Baptist church at Scranton he was zealous in the work of securing new members. One man, with whom he had labored exhaustively, was finally persuaded as to his Christian duty, but could not make up his mind whether to become a Baptist or a Methodist. Finally he hit upon a compromise and wrote to the doctor that he had decided to unite with the Methodists, but would like to be baptized in the Baptist church by immersion. This so exasperated the good doctor that he sent the following reply: "I regret that I cannot accommodate you, but this church does not take in washing."

LETTERS FROM COUNTY TOWNS

Correspondents send in Many Items of Interesting News from their Respective Towns. Personals and Many Brief Items.

HEIDLEBSBURG

Heidelsburg, September 14—Mrs. J. F. Houck has returned to her home after spending the past week visiting relatives in New Oxford and York.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Brame and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Brame visited friends in Hanover recently.

The public school opened on Monday with attendance of thirty-one pupils.

Miss Edna Shadyaugh, of Ronud Hill, is the guest of her aunt, Miss Emma Pittenturf.

John Mummett is improving his residence by erecting a new porch and re-roofing his house.

Miss Mabel Fidler has gone to spend several weeks with her uncle, F. H. Brame, of Hanover.

L. C. Pittenturf and wife and G. R. Haverstock and wife spent Monday in Gettysburg.

The new fence for the Evergreen cemetery has arrived and will be erected in the near future.

Mrs. Matilda Pittenturf and daughter, Lizzie, of York Springs, visited friends in town over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Houck spent Sunday with Daniel Deatrick and wife, of York Springs.

Mrs. G. R. Haverstock was summoned on Sunday morning to the bed side of her daughter, Miss Lulu, of New Oxford, who is seriously ill.

George Mummett, of Bendersville, spent several days recently with his brother, John Mummett and family.

A concrete pavement will be put down at the Lutheran church in the near future.

John F. Houck, Jr., left today to resume his studies at Pennsylvania College.

Mrs. Rachael Font is visiting her son, Frank Font, of near Gettysburg.

Mrs. Charlotte Yohe spent Tuesday with her daughter, Mrs. Emory Coulson of York Springs.

W. S. Houck made a business trip to Gettysburg on Tuesday.

The house of Matilda Pittenturf is nearing completion.

FOUNTAIN DALE

Fountain Dale, September 14—Mrs. Flickinger, of Milton, and Mamie Gehrbart visited at the home of O. Linebaugh on Sunday.

Mrs. Harvey Tresler and daughter, Elva, and Mrs. Margaret Tresler spent Sunday with Mrs. Catharine Tresler, of Virginia Mills.

Mr. Halley and daughter, Mrs. Berkley, of Philadelphia, are visiting Isaac Halley.

John Sanders met with an accident last week which might have proved serious. On the road between Fairfield and Fountaindale Mr. Sanders' horse became frightened at an automobile throwing him out and bruising his body, but fortunately no bones were broken.

Miss Mary Shriner and Emory Flohr attended the love feast at Marsh creek on Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Zella Carrens, of Virginia Mills, visited at S. H. Climes' on Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Mary Ghadhill, of Maria Furnace, spent Sunday with Hazel Tresler.

The Liberty township teachers will hold their first monthly meeting at Grayson school house on September 23.

Albert Beard and children, Lela and Joe, spent Sunday with Joseph Beard and family.

HORSE and buggy for sale, five bay driving mare twelve years old. Sound and safe. No fear of automobiles or trolley cars. An ideal family driver. Also top buggy, harness, blanket, robes, &c. A bargain if it is taken at once. Inquire of Prof. J. A. Clutz, 321 Springs avenue. Telephone 193W.

Lost red coral ear ring on Baltimore street near the Square. Reward if returned to No. 1 College Campus.

Eight cents paid for good calves. Drop me a card. J. R. Riechy, York Springs.

J. A. Kane, Z. H. Cashman, U. H. Weikert and S. Miley Miller left this morning to attend the State convention of the County Commissioners to be held at Wellston, Tioga county.

Special low prices on all Standard sewing machines, also ready made clothing. G. H. Knoose, Biglerville.

Bicycle for sale. Apply at Times

The Gettysburg Times

PUBLISHED DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY

Times and News Publishing Company.

W. Laverne Hafer, Secretary and Treasurer.

Philip R. Bickle, President

Philip R. Bickle, Editor.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Served by carrier in Gettysburg for 25 cents per month. Mailed outside of Gettysburg for 25 cents per month. Single copies to non-subscribers, 2 cents

If you receive The Times by mail you can find the date up to which you are paid, on the pink address label on your paper. The date will be changed within four days after your money is received at The Times office.

Entered August 15, 1904, at Gettysburg, Pa., as second-class matter, under Congress March 3, 1879.

BELL PHONE

UNITED PHONE

Office in Northwest corner of Centre Square, Gettysburg, Pa.

Want ads, 1 cent per word for first insertion and one-half cent per word for each additional insertion. Resolutions of respect, poetry and memorials one-half cent per word.

Water Company Notice

IN view of the present extraordinary demand for water and pending the installation in the near future of additional sterilizing processes at the company's plant, the Gettysburg Water Company would suggest, as a precaution, that its customers boil the water used by them for drinking purposes.

GETTYSBURG WATER COMPANY

ROBERT CALDWELL, Superintendent

First showing of Fall and Winter styles in

REGAL SHOES

$3.50, 4.00, 4.50

C. B. Kitzmiller

Store will be open evenings until 8 o'clock.

IMPALED BY AN ARROW.

Pinned Through the Neck to a Tree, Yet He Survived.

It was in the summer of 1859 that George Wainwright and Ben Spencer, each in charge of a train of freight wagons, were headed for the Missouri river to bring supplies back to Colorado points. The Indians were very troublesome in those days, and these two outfits always camped together for protection. One night they had arranged the camp, with the wagons forming a circle, and everybody but the guards was to be inside. Wainwright preferred to sleep in a clump of cottonwoods about a quarter of a mile off, and there he fired himself with his negro servant as a bodyguard. Neither the camp nor Wainwright was disturbed during the night, but early the next morning while Wainwright was sitting on the ground with his back to a tree drinking his tin of coffee an arrow from an unseen foe entered his neck at the right of the jugular vein and was driven with such force as to impale the victim to the tree. The negro, believing his master was killed, ran to Spencer's camp and gave the alarm. Spencer and some of his men rushed over to Wainwright. Instead of being dead Wainwright was not even seriously injured. Spencer cut the arrow off close to the point of entrance and then gently drew Wainwright's head forward until he was released. The victim suffered but little inconvenience from the wound, and by the time the trip was completed it was entirely healed.—Los Angeles Times.

THE WAY OF THE SWISS.

Foreigners Regarded as Egyptians and Treated Accordingly.

A foreigner resident in Switzerland was fined 10 francs because his little girl had picked three buttercups growing on a piece of land on which she and some half dozen Swiss children had for years been accustomed to play. The land had recently changed hands, and its new owner had put up a notice forbidding the picking of flowers. A passing gendarme had found the children flagrant delicto and had forthwith instituted proceedings against the little foreigner, while letting the little natives go scot free.

MRS. MARY BAKER EDDY.

Christian Science Leader is Subpoenaed as Witness.

MRS. EDDY SUBPOENAED

Christian Science Leader May Appear Against Alleged Petty Theft.

Boston, Sept. 14.—Judge Wentworth issued a subpoena, returnable Sept. 20, for the appearance in court of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, head of the Christian Science church, as a witness against Frederick E. King, who is charged with stealing five automobile tires, one of which is the property of Mrs. Eddy.

Alfred Farlow, the Christian Science representative, when asked if Mrs. Eddy would appear in court, replied: "Mrs. Eddy is over ninety years old; I guess she will not want to be a witness in such a small case."

METHODIST PASTOR AND GIRL MISSING

Preacher's Name is Connected With Heiress by Gossip.

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Rev. E. C. Bradburn, thirty-two years old, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Spencer, is missing, and much anxiety is expressed on the part of friends and members of his congregation.

Mr. Bradburn has not been heard from since a week ago last Sunday, when he went over to Nichols to preach. Miss Marian White, twenty-three years old, granddaughter of Luther B. White, said to be a millionaire, also is missing, and gossip here has connected the names of the pastor and the young woman.

The pastor's wife and his mother-in-law live in Ithaca, and they say they don't know where Mr. Bradburn is. Nobody knows that Miss White is with Mr. Bradburn, as efforts to ascertain the whereabouts of both have proved fruitless.

Mr. Bradburn went to Nichols to exchange pulpits with the pastor there. He has not been seen since. The same day Miss White packed two grips and hired a man to drive her to Tioga Center, where she boarded a train. Her destination is unknown.

UNMASKED MEN LYNCH TWO

Colored Men, Accused of Attempted Attack, Victims of a Mob.

Tiptonville, Tenn., Sept. 14.—Will Sharp and Bob Bruce, colored, who for seven or eight years have worked on various farms over the county, were lynched by a mob of about forty men.

They were accused of an attempted attack on two little daughters of Jack Downing, at their home at Connersville. The men were taken from Sheriff Haines in a cypress brake about three-quarters of a mile from Tiptonville, the sheriff having taken them there to hide them.

The members of the mob were not masked.

Discover Two Bodies in Cistern.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 14.—Acting on a clue given by an anonymous letter to Mayor Crowder, a cistern beneath a rooming house here has been drained and two human bodies found. One of the bodies is that of a child only a few days old and the other that of a man. The rooming house, it is alleged, has been frequented by women, mostly strangers in Jackson. No arrests have yet been made.

WEATHER EVERYWHERE.

Observations of United States weather bureau taken at 8 p. m. yesterday follow:

	Temp.	Weather.
Albany.....	79	Cloudy.
Atlantic City..	68	Cloudy.
Buffalo.....	74	Cloudy.
Chicago.....	71	Cloudy.
New Orleans...	76	Clear.
New York.....	58	Cloudy.
Philadelphia...	56	Clear.
St. Louis.....	70	P. Cloudy.
Washington....	58	Cloudy.

Weather Forecast.

Fair today and tomorrow; cooler; moderate winds.

A BAG OF GOLF CLUBS.

They Picture in a Way the Various Phases of Human Society.

Devotees of the links will be interested to learn that, in the opinion of a Philosophical student of their ancient game, a bag of golf clubs is a gymnasium of human society.

In the front rank you have the driver, smooth, polished, elegant, the aristocrat of the circle, to whose lot falls the showy role in the day's performance.

NO TROUBLE, SAYS CHANLER

Declares He is on Best of Terms With His Wife.

FIRST SPOUSE GETS BUSY

Employs Attorney to See That She Gets Her $20,000 Alimony Annually From Estate.

New York, Sept. 14.—Robert W. Chanler denied that there had been any trouble between himself and wife, who was formerly Lina Cavalleri, the opera singer. Mr. Chanler made the statement after a chat with his lawyer, Sidney Harris. He added that he was quite put out over the publicity recently accorded his private affairs and that the truth of the matter was that no litigation on the part of Mme. Cavalleri to ensure the carrying out of an ante-nuptial agreement was in progress or so far as he knew contemplated. He said that he had been on the best of terms with his wife when he left her and that the cable signed "Devoted Robert" expressed the true state of his feelings. Mr. Harris added to Mr. Chanler's statement only the remark that he couldn't discuss the situation, since there was no situation to discuss.

Mr. Osborne, of King & Osborne, Mme. Cavalleri's representatives in this country, had nothing to say about the rumored contest over the ante-nuptial agreement of which he holds a copy, and insisted that any interviews purporting to come from him were bogus. Mr. Osborne's refusal to talk included a refusal to comment upon the report that a copy of the Chanler-Cavalleri ante-nuptial agreement had been filed with the Union Trust company, trustees of the Delano estate, as a polite intimation that Mme. Cavalleri has a claim upon the estate.

Meanwhile if there is trouble over Mr. Chanler's reported generous provision for his wife, both sides seem to be sparring for position before opening the attack. It was intimated by a lawyer conversant with the situation that the ante-nuptial agreement wasn't a very valuable paper, and that under present conditions Mr. Chanler's wife can only receive the income from his property, amounting, it is said, to $40,000 a year, through Mr. Chanler's own hands. The fight, if there is one, will come, it was intimated, only if Mr. Chanler's family find means to close the purse entirely.

The only entirely new feature of the case was the announcement that Robert Chanler's first wife, who is now living in Paris, had become much alarmed by the reports that her former husband had made over his entire estate to his present wife and had engaged Frederick H. Watriss to look after her interests. Mr. Watriss, it is understood, was retained by cable on Monday, to see that Mrs. Julia Chamberlain Chanler, continues to get the alimony due her.

The Astor and Delano properties were placed in a trust fund by Mr. Chanler's father. This trust holds the property for management and investment. The proceeds are divided in equal shares between Robert and his brothers and sisters. None of them can terminate the trust or draw out their share of the funds or ever assign their own income in advance.

In order to get anything from her husband's estate Mme. Cavalleri's ante-nuptial creditors, it is said, would have to prove that the income from the trust was in excess of the needs of the beneficiary. It is thought that when Chanler has paid the $20,000 alimony which goes to his first wife and has taken care of the interest charges on mortgages there will be too little left to make it worth the while of the ante-nuptial creditors of the singer to fight for it.

KILLED AT BIER

Man Shot Dead Beside His Daughter's Body.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 14.—John Walker, of Edwardsville, near this city, was murdered during the night while he kept a death vigil over the body of his daughter, who died last Sunday.

Mr. Walker was shot through the heart, and George Walker, one of his brothers, has been arrested and held on suspicion, while the police are also searching for another brother, Andrew.

The police were notified by some neighbors, who heard the sounds of a fight and then some pistol shots in the Walker home. Walker was found on the floor in a room adjoining the one where his daughter lay. There was a bullet hole through his heart, was smoldering. Neighbors had seen the two suspected brothers leave the house after the shot was heard and the police started a search for them at once.

Stabbed Wrong Man.

Freeland, Pa., Sept. 14.—Georgio Greko, Pasquale De Chelz and John Dasa were arrested here, charged with shooting and stabbing Michael Ferrarri near his home. Ferrarri was unconscious when picked up. The prisoners confessed to shooting and stabbing Ferrarri, but excused themselves on the ground that they mistook him for another man. The tree were held on $1000 bail for court.

JUSTICE WHITE.

May Be Appointed Member of The Hague Tribunal.

HONORS FOR JUSTICE WHITE

The President May Appoint Him Member of The Hague Tribunal.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Friends in Washington of Associate Justice White, of the supreme court, believe that President Taft has picked him for signal honors and think that he will be made a member of The Hague tribunal.

The late Chief Justice Fuller was a member of that tribunal, and while there is no special reason to appoint another member of the United States supreme court to the vacancy, it is understood here that Mr. Taft has considered Justice White's name most favorably.

Justice White is regarded as one of the ablest members of the supreme court bench. He is particularly qualified to sit on The Hague tribunal, since his early legal training was in Louisiana, a state where the civil law is used.

Justice White is a Democrat and therefore not likely to be considered for the vacant chief justiceship.

BASE BALL SCORES.

Following is the Result of Games Played Yesterday.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

At Boston.—New York, 7; Boston, 5. Batteries—Warner, Hughes, Ford, Sweetney; Hunt, Wood, Madden. At Philadelphia.—Athletics, 4; Washington, 0. Batteries—Dyckert, Livingston; Gray, Meyer, Henry. At Chicago.—St. Louis, 1; Chicago, 0. Batteries—Nelson, Killifer; Walsh, Sullivan. At Detroit.—Cleveland, 8; Detroit, 7. Batteries—Keller, Harkness, Lane, Adams; Toudal, Straud, Mullin, Casey, Schmidt.

Standing of the Clubs.

W. L. P. C. W. L. P. C. Athletics 91 40 686 Cleveland 59 73 447 Boston... 76 56 576 Washington 59 73 440 New York... 76 56 576 Chicago 51 80 389 Detroit... 76 57 571 St. Louis 41 92 305

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

At New York.—Pittsburg, 11; New York, 1 (1st game). Batteries—Adams, Gibson; Mathewson, Dickson, Meyer. New York, 15; Pittsburg, 3 (2d game). Batteries—Wiltse, Meyers, Schell; Lelfield, Leever, Gibson, Simons. At Brooklyn.—Cincinnati, 3; Brooklyn, 2. Batteries—Royan, McLean; Knetzer, Scanlon, Miller. Other clubs not scheduled.

Standing of the Clubs.

W. L. P. C. W. L. P. C. Chicago 85 39 685 Cincinnati 66 67 496 Pittsburg 77 53 592 Brooklyn 57 78 395 New York... 73 54 575 St. Louis 51 75 405 Philada... 67 63 515 Boston... 45 86 344

Will Raise Cotton in California.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—Michael Cudady, of Chicago, has just completed a deal by which he pays $1,250,000 for a large tract of land in the Imperial valley and plans to invest $2,000,000 in raising cotton. The tract contains 32,000 acres, and it is proposed to put it all in cotton. Mills will also be erected.

$100,000 For York Inventor.

York, Pa., Sept. 14.—An invention of fibrous asbestos fireproof covering for wire has been sold by H. Luke Owens, a young and struggling mechanic of this city, to the General Electric company, of Schenectady, N. Y., for $100,000.

GENERAL MARKETS.

PHILADELPHIA.—FLOUR weak; winter clear, $4.45; city mills, fancy, $5.60.

RYE FLOUR steady, at $4.41 per barrel.

WHEAT steady; No. 2 red, new, 99c@$.01.

CORN steady; No. 2 yellow, local, 66c@67c.

OATS quiet; No. 2 white, 38½c; lower grades, 37c.

POULTRY: Live steady; hens, 16c; 16½c; old roosters, 11½c@12c. Dressed firm; choice fowls, 18c; old roosters, 13c.

BUTTER firm; extra creamery, 23c. EGGS steady; selected, 30c@32c; nearby, 26c; western, 25c.

POTATOES quiet, at 50c@$.150 per barrel, as to quality.

Live Stock Markets.

PITTSBURG (Union Stock Yards).—CATTLE higher; choice, $7.25@7.50; prime, $7.20.

SHEEP lower; prime wethers, $4.25@4.50; culls and common, $2.63; veal calves, $9.50@10; lambs, $4.60@5.00.

HOGS higher; prime heavies, $19@10.05; mediums, $18.25@10.30; heavy Yorkers, $10.20@10.25; light Yorkers, $10.10@10.15; pigs, $9.25@9.80; roughs, $8.50@9.

NUGGETS OF GOLD

Some of the Largest Ever Struck Were Found by Chance.

THE OLIVER MARTIN CHUNK.

It Was Turned Up by a Miner Who Was Digging a Grave For His Drowned Comrade—A Starving Miner Unearthed the "Welcome Stranger."

Nowhere does fortune indulge her love of the dramatic and the sensational more fully than in the gold fields.

Take, for instance, the story of the discovery of the world famous "Blanche Barkley" nugget in the early days of Australian gold mining, which sent a thrill around the world. Samuel Napier, a sailor, with his brother Charles and one Robert Ambrose, their cook and general handy man, had been digging for gold for six months at Kingover, about forty miles from Bendigo, without discovering as much of the precious metal as would pay their living expenses, when one August day, to tell the story in Napier's own words: "We had dug down about fourteen feet to the pipe clay stratum and were shuffling around in the bottom of the shaft more dead than alive from the heat. Old Ambrose lit his pipe and leaned against the side of the hole to rest. Just then I struck something with my pick. I turned it up so the light could strike it, and, by Jinnny, it was a chunk of gold as big as a Hubbard squash!" The nugget sold for $35,000.

Among the thousands who flocked to the Victorian gold fields in the early fifties were two Cornish miners, John Deason and Richard Oates, who staked a claim near the village of Moliague. They set to work with vigor, confident that in a few months they would be able to retire to their native Cornwall rich men, but their expectations were doomed to cruel disappointment. Not only months, but many years, passed and found them still as far removed from fortune as at the beginning, and by 1869, fifteen years after they began their search for gold, they were reduced to the last straits. Starvation stared them in the face.

In despair the miner seized his pick and wandered away to the outskirts of the gold field, and as he wandered, downcast and heavy hearted, he noticed a gleam of yellow in a rut made by a peddler's cart. Lifting his pick, with a few frantic blows he brought to light an enormous nugget, which, with all his strength, he could barely raise an inch from the ground. The nugget, which was soon known the world over as the "Welcome Stranger," actually weighed two hundredweight and was sold for nearly $50,000.

And these were but a few of the many similar blocks of gold discovered in Australia under equally dramatic conditions. While a native shepherd named Kerr was tending his sheep one day his attention was arrested by a yellow rock projecting a few inches above the soil. In his excitement at the discovery he ran to fetch his master. The rock was unearthed and proved to be a nugget of two hundredweight, from which 100 pounds of pure gold were extracted.

A few years later another monster nugget made its appearance at Ballarat. A party of miners had worked a claim to a depth of sixty yards when one of them struck with his pick a hard, irregularly shaped mass, which on being unearthed proved to be a block of almost pure gold twenty inches long, a foot wide and seven inches deep. Its weight was almost one hundredweight and a quarter and its value $46,625.

It was the periodical discovery at Ballarat of these monster nuggets which first fired the blood of the entire world in the faraway fifties. But even Ballarat has no other romance to rival that of the discovery of two huge nuggets within a few days in the same claim. The story runs that four miners had worked their claim down to about sixty feet when one of them brought to light a nugget weighing nearly one hundredweight and worth $27,500. In their joy at such a rich treasure they the men abandoned the diggings and took their nugget with them to England. They had scarcely left Ballarat when their successors in the claim, with almost the first stroke of a pick, turned over another nugget heavier than the first and valued at more than $35,000.

Of all the romantic stories told of gold discoveries in California none is more remarkable than that of which Oliver Martin was the hero. For months Martin and a companion named Flower had been prospecting for gold to no purpose. Worn out by hardships and half dead from starvation, they were on the point of abandoning the quest in despair when fate administered her last crushing blow.

They were overtaken by a terrible storm, in which Flower was drowned. Martin, weak though he was, set to work to dig his fallen comrade's grave at the foot of a tree and had dug down barely two feet when his spade struck a hard, unyielding substance, which, to his amazement and delight, proved to be an enormous nugget, the largest ever found on the American continent. The "Oliver Martin Chunk," as it came to be known the whole world over, weighed 151 pounds 6 ounces and was the nucleus of a fortune of a million dollars which Martin accumulated in later years.—Cassell's Saturday Journal.

Constipation

"For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an injection of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have an action on my bowels. Happily I tried Cascarets, and today I am a well man. During the nine years before I used Cascarets I suffered untold misery with internal piles. Thanks to you, I am free from all that this morning. You can use this in behalf of suffering humanity." B. F. Fisher, Roscoe, Ill.

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken or Gripes. 10c, 25c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped C.C.C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back.

GETTYSBURG MARKETS

Prices at the Gettysburg warehouses corrected daily by C. Milton Wolf, Jr. Successor to J. Geo. Wolf's Sons Co., Per Bu.

Wheat 92
Ear Corn 70
Rye 65
New Oats not received until quoted.

RETAIL PRICES

	Per 100
Badger Cow Feed	1.25
Schmacker Stock Feed	1.45
Wheat Bran	$1.30
Cotton seed meal, per hundred	$1.85
Corn and Oats Chop	1.45
White Middlings	1.80
Red Middlings	1.80
Timothy hay	1.00
Rye chop	1.00
Baled straw	50
Plaster	$7.50 per ton
Cement	$1.85 per bbl
	Per bbl.
Flour	$3.50
Western flour	6.50
	Per bu.
Wheat	1.00
Shelled Corn	80
Ear Corn	85
New oats	45
Old oats	50

Western Maryland RR

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT MAY 29, 1910. Trains leave Gettysburg DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY, as follows:

8:05 a. m., for Fairfield, Pen Mar, Hagerstown, Waynesboro, Chambersburg, Hancock, Cumberland, Elkins and all points westward.
1 p. m. for New Oxford, Hanover, York and intermediate points.
3:40 p. m., for Baltimore, Hanover, York and all intermediate points.
6:17 p. m. for Baltimore, York, Hanover and intermediate points.
6:43 p. m., for B. & O. Division. Points to Highfield, also Hagerstown, Waynesboro, Chambersburg, Shippensburg and Hancock.

Sundays Only

Sunday trains arrive at Gettysburg at 8:55 a. m.
6:17 p. m. for New Oxford, Hanover and intermediate points, and also Baltimore.
7:22 p. m., local train to York.
A. Robertson, F. M. Howell
V. P. & Gen. Mgr. G. F. A

FOR SALE

I have for sale all within the Borough of Gettysburg, Pa.

16 building lots on Seminary Avenue.
8 building lots on Springs Avenue.

21 building lots on West Middle street extended.

1600 feet of frontage along the Round Top Branch Railroad running South from West Middle street, suitable for manufacturing sites.

I will also sell the Deardorff place along McMillan lane, facing the West Conederate Avenue, containing about 13 acres. This is a very desirable place for a truck and poultry farm.

For further particulars apply to CALVIN GILBERT

Notice to Heirs

In the Orphans Court of Adams County In the matter of the proceedings in partition of the real estate of Isaac Lauer, deceased, late of Franklin Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania.

To Phemia Lauer, John H. Lauer, Benjamin Lauer and Calvin Lauer, all of Adams County, Pa., and McLean Lauer of Dixon, Lee County, Ill. heirs of Isaac Lauer, deceased, and all other persons interested in the real estate of the said decedent:

You are hereby notified that a rule was issued by the Orphans Court of Adams County to you, to appear at Gettysburg on Monday, the 19th day of September 1910, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, and accept the said real estate of said Isaac Lauer, deceased, at the valuation thereof, made by the inquisition, or to show cause why the same should not be sold in case you and all of you should neglect or refuse to accept the same.

ELIAS FISSEL, Sheriff

Wm. Hersh, Attorney for the rule.

FOR SALE

White and Buff Leghorn and Silver Spangled Hamburg Cockerels.

DAVID KNOUSS, Arentsville, Pa.

FOR SALE

50 acres of land in Cumberland Township and the Ridge Road, a two story house, good barn, hog pen, smoke house and all necessary out-buildings and a spring of never failing water at the house and running water at the barn and fruit treacher.

Apply to J. SPONSELLER, Route 3.

A Reminder

A nicely cleaned and pressed garment adds 100 per cent. to the party who wears it. I am prepared to do all kinds of cleaning, pressing, repairing and dyeing at Moderate prices.

Rufus H. Bushman, 14 Chambersburg Street, Gettysburg, Pa

THE ELECTION IN MAINE

Latest Returns Confirm Democratic Sweep.

PLAISTED'S PLURALITY 8500

The Democrats Carried 13 Out of 16 Counties For County Officers and Control Both Branches of the Legislature.

Portland, Me., Sept. 14.—Late returns received from Monday's state election emphasized the extent of the Democratic victory.

The figures showed that besides electing Frederick W. Plaisted, Dem., of Augusta, to the governorship by about 8500 plurality, over Governor Bert M. Fernald, Rep., of Portland, securing congressmen in the Second and Third districts and a good majority in the legislature, the Democrats had carried a whole or part of thirteen out of sixteen counties for county officers.

Control of the legislature gives the party the chance to elect the more important state officers, while Governor Plaisted will have the appointment of several justices and members of commissions.

Complete returns gave Asher C. Hinds, Rep., a plurality of 174 in the First district, where a recount may be held.

Democratic Legislature.

Governor Fernald carried but three of the twenty cities in the state. With 21 out of 31 state senators and 86 out of 151 representatives, the Democrats control both branches of the legislature and are within 15 votes of a two-thirds majority in joint convention. The Republicans have elected 63 representatives.

The congressional results follow: Asher C. Hinds, Rep., elected in the First district by 174; Daniel J. McGillicuddy, Dem., elected in the Second by 3090; Samuel W. Gould, Dem., elected in the Third by 2299; Frank E. Guernsey, Rep., elected in the Fourth by 300.

Hinds is the present parliamentary clerk in congress. His opponent was William M. Pennell. Frank E. Guernsey, the other successful Republican, is the present congressman from the Fourth district. His opponent was George M. Harrison.

Both successful Democrats defeated present congressmen, McGillicuddy being elected over Representative John P. Swasey in the Second district, and Gould over Representative Edwin C. Burleigh in the Third. The Second district was formerly represented by the late Nelson M. Dingley, father of the Dingley tariff law.

Democrats of Maine had difficulty in contemplating the magnitude of their victory in the struggle with the Republicans. With two scores of little obscure forest towns and island plantations to hear from, additional revised returns give Colonel Fred W. Plaisted, Dem., 72 111 votes for governor, and Governor Bert M. Fernald, of Portland, Rep., 64,090.

Colonel Plaisted is mayor of Augusta, Me., and, strangely enough, son of the man who was elected governor thirty years ago on a fusion Democratic-Republican ticket.

Legislature Has Power.

Control of the legislature is of more importance in Maine than in some of the other states, because a number of the highest officers are appointed by that body. These are treasurer, attorney general, secretary and commissioner of agriculture. The next legislature also will have full charge of redistricting the state.

A Democratic legislature also probably will re-submit to the people the vexed prohibitory liquor law and a chance for local option in the sale of intoxicating liquors.

CHARGED WITH SMUGGLING

Baltimore Woman Accused of Bringing in $10,000 in Jewelry.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—Mrs. Louise Klein, sixty years old, who came here from Baltimore Thursday, was arrested by Keenan and O'Brien, city hall detectives, and accused of smuggling into this country jewels valued at $10,000.

These, it is asserted, she has been attempting to sell in this city. According to the police, Mrs. Klein confessed to Captain of Detectives Souder that she had purchased the jewels in Holland and then had them set in Paris.

With the bag containing the jewels strapped about her waist, she landed in New York on Aug. 8 on the steamship New York from Brussels. She went first to Chicago, then to Baltimore and on to Philadelphia. The United States customs authorities have issued a warrant for Mrs. Klein.

Arizona Democratic.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 14.—Complete returns from Monday's election of delegates to the Arizona constitutional convention confirm reports of the overwhelming victory of the Democrats. They have elected a total of thirty-six delegates out of fifty-two. The result makes certain the incorporation of the principles of direct legislation, the initiative, referendum and recall in the new state constitution, and forecasts its probable adoption by the voters of the state.

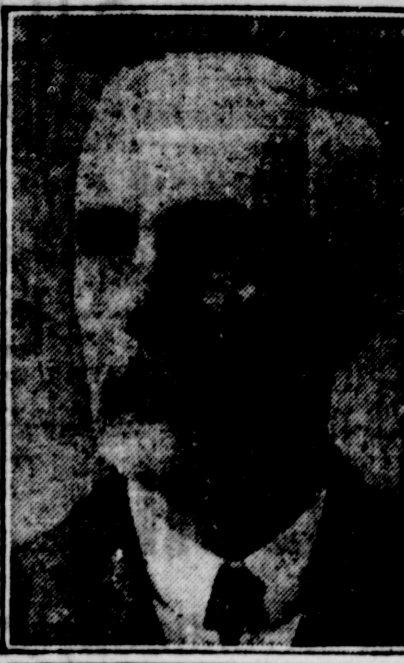

AN ALGERIAN HOTEL.

The Attempt to Describe Its Attractions in English.

Things are not always as they seem, even in an advertisement. This truth dawned upon Robert Crawford when he was in Algiers, and he tells of the reason for his conclusion in "Reminiscences of Foreign Travel." Mr. Crawford, not being satisfied with his lodgings, procured a copy of the Journal des Etrangers and proceeded to look

JOHN P. SWASEY.

Republican Congressman Defeated For Re-Election in Maine.

BOWERS' SUCCESSOR

Frank B. Kellogg May Be Named Solicitor General.

Washington, Sept. 14.—While President Taft is understood not to have begun serious consideration of a successor to the late Solicitor General Lloyd W. Bowers, it was reported here that the name of Frank B. Kellogg, the former trust trustee, is not unlikely to be offered the place.

Mr. Kellogg stands high in the estimation of the president and has handled some of the most important government anti-trust suits, including that against the Standard Oil company.

BALLINGER VERDICT OFF UNTIL DECEMBER

Republicans of Committee Have Prepared Report.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Secretary of the Interior Ballinger will not learn his fate at the hands of the congressional investigating committee soon.

A statement has been issued to the effect that there being no quorum, the committee has adjourned until Dec. 3 in Washington. The minority resolution adopted at Minneapolis was declared "irrational."

All afternoon the committee had been in session, and it was believed a report exonerating Secretary Ballinger would be issued immediately at the conclusion of the conference.

The members waited for Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, who arrived just before noon with a black satchel under his arm, which he guarded carefully. It was said that the report, or at least memorandum of it, was in the satchel.

He hurried at once into the committee rooms, not stopping to deny a report that he and Senator Root, who arrived just a few minutes before him, had been in conference together regarding the report.

One of the members of the committee present, who would not permit his name to be used, said: "There is no doubt that a report is to be made as soon as Senator Root reads it and endorses its findings. The report was drawn up by Chairman Nelson."

GIRL SHOTS HERSELF

Eloped From Chester and Tried Suicide When Arrested.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Ethel Pierce, thirteen years old, of Chester, Pa., attempted to kill herself as Chief of Police Goods, of Alexandria, Va., stepped into a hotel room to take her into custody and to arrest William Firth, Jr., aged twenty-seven, with whom she had eloped from her home. Physicians say the girl cannot live.

Firth, who is said to be the night ticket agent of the Pennsylvania railroad at Chester, and the girl, who is only thirteen years old, arrived at Alexandria, Va., which is about eight miles from Washington. They went to the Hotel Ramel and registered.

The Alexandria police were on the lookout for the couple. Chief of Police Goods went to the hotel and knocked on the door of the room they occupied. Firth opened the door and after a few words with Chief Goods acknowledged his identity. Immediately the girl, who was standing behind the door, shot herself through the temple with a 32-caliber revolver, inflicting what the physicians say is a fatal wound, and they state that she will not live.

Firth is held on the charge of abduction.

Aged Woman Killed by Fall.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 14.—In alighting from a train at the Pennsylvania railroad station in this city, Mrs. Mercy Herbert fell to the platform, sustaining injuries from which she died a few hours later. Mrs. Herbert, who was seventy-six years old, was returning from Ocean Grove, where she had spent the summer.

Left $689,000 to Cornell University.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 14.—Cornell university receives $689,000 unconditionally by the will of Professor Goldwin Smith, probated here, in which the value of the estate is given as $832,859.

up a hotel.

After a patient investigation the choice seemed to lie between two. One, according to the notice, possessed "every English comfort" and had "large" as well as small apartments. The other—and I was strongly drawn to it—advertised as follows:

Fir Glass House.
Full South.
Mia of large Parc.
Tramways to and from town every 15 minutes.

NEW YORK BANK LOSES $150,000

Lays Case Before the District Attorney.

THE DETAILS ARE WITHHELD

Other Banks May Also Be Losers in Loans on Doubtful Securities—Detectives Trail Man.

New York, Sept. 14.—Officers of the Mercantile National bank, in lower Broadway reported to the district attorney that they thought the institution had lost in the neighborhood of $150,000 through a man whose dealings with it are under severe scrutiny. Mr. Whitman wouldn't say who his visitors were nor would he name the institution.

"There is in progress an investigation in which a financial concern is interested, but it is not in such shape that I can talk about it," was all the district attorney would say.

It was said in the criminal courts building that the man referred to is not any officer or employee of the institution that has started the inquiry in the district attorney's office, but an outsider who borrowed through the regular course of business, and it was alleged that the money was obtained by means either of securities of doubtful authenticity or commercial rating falsely secured. And it was further said that before the investigation is ended other banks and trust companies—probably three—will figure as losers through the same man.

The man in question was himself in the district attorney's office during the afternoon and made a statement in the presence of the trust company's officials to Mr. Whitman. The fact that he wasn't arrested by Mr. Whitman's detectives indicates that the complainants themselves were not absolutely sure that their disquieting client had come in contact with the criminal law.

The man was followed out of the criminal courts building by central office detectives who are assigned to Mr. Whitman's office. He went to an uptown hotel, and there the detectives sat down to see that he didn't leave the jurisdiction. He was to all intents and purposes a prisoner, though the detectives didn't expect to make an actual arrest.

GEN. KEIFER RETURNS

Talks Strongly Against Fortifying the Panama Canal.

New York, Sept. 14.—General J. Warren Keifer, of Springfield, O., who represents the Seventh Ohio district in congress, was an arrival on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie.

General Keifer was one of the American delegates to the Interparliamentary Union at Brussels. During the congress General Keifer came out in strong opposition to the plan of fortifying the Panama canal.

He objects strongly to the speech made by Colonel Roosevelt at Omaha in favor of fortifying the canal and says this speech is in contradiction of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty made in 1901 with reference to the matter.

"I have written a full response to Colonel Roosevelt's Omaha speech, in which I think Mr. Roosevelt contradicts himself," said General Keifer. "When the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was made in November, 1901, Mr. Roosevelt was president, and at that time took an opposite view apparently from the one he takes today. I intend to ask him to explain his position when I make my answer to his speech."

DELAWARE DEMOCRATS

Nominate Ticket After an All-Day Controversy.

Dover, Del., Sept. 14.—The Democratic state convention, after an all-day controversy, nominated former Attorney General Robert C. White, of Sussex county, for Delaware's candidate for congress.

The convention also chose for state treasurer Millard F. Davis, of Wilmington; for auditor, William H. Walker, of Dover. The latter is a brother-in-law of the Republican United States senator, Harry S. Richardson.

The wet and dry issue figured largely, the deciding vote for White being cast by the New Castle county delegation, a majority of whom were license men and didn't want Saulsbury.

Smallpox in Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 14.—Two cases of smallpox were discovered at the home of foreigners in the Iron works district and the house quarantined by the local health authorities after they had hunted over half of Harrisburg for men living in the house. The patients are Mrs. J. Hecht and her fifteen-day-old infant. They have been removed to the municipal hospital and the boarders in the house are now under surveillance after being vaccinated.

New Orleans to Get Congress.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—The next eucharistic congress on this continent will be held at New Orleans in 1911. This was the statement made by Cardinal Gibbons just before his departure for Baltimore. Next year's congress and those of the two succeeding years will be in Europe.

I found the place.

To my surprise there was no conservatory or glass house of any kind and no fir trees. As I pondered over the fact the solution suddenly came to me—it was a "first class house" of course. What of the rest of the advertisement? The hotel had a southern aspect and was situated in a park. As for the tramway, that was pure fiction.

What the co-operative gathered cream butter factories have to contend with in their effort to make a strictly

His Other Self

A Forgery Within the Law

By MARY D. BLAKE

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

A man was sitting on the piazza of a summer hotel in Maine when another man came up the steps and, after eying him sharply, advanced toward him and said: "Mr. Pierson, I believe."

"You have the advantage of me, sir."

"I have seen you several times and have been introduced to you. Are you not Richard Pierson of Chicago?"

"If you will excuse me, sir, I prefer not to tell you who I am until I learn something about yourself. Doubtless you are perfectly honest and sincere in taking me for an acquaintance, but you must admit that such methods are so often taken with a sinister motive that it behooves us to be on our guard on the advances of a stranger."

"You are perfectly right. I am Mark Anderson and have often been in Chicago. There I have met Mr. Richard Pierson. If you are not he, resemble him sufficiently to be his twin brother."

"I confess," replied the other, softening, "that I have often been taken for this man Pierson. I wish that I could say that I am he, for I understand he has a fortune. When were you in Chicago, sir?"

Anderson told him that he had left Chicago but a few weeks ago, adding: "If you are not Richard Pierson of Chicago will you now kindly tell me who you are?"

"Loving is my name—Alexander Loving."

Mr. Anderson, while he carefully refrained from appearing to court Mr. Loving, lost no opportunity of putting himself in his way. Loving at first appeared to be trying to avoid the man, but gradually gave way and suffered himself to become intimate with his new acquaintance. Finally Anderson mentioned a certain young widow—a Mrs. Markland. Loving pricked up his ears.

"The man you resemble," said Anderson, "was at one time attentive to her."

Loving winced.

One morning the two men were in the writing room of the hotel. Loving was writing a letter. He had finished and addressed it and was beginning another when he was called away, leaving the addressed letter on the table at which he had written it. When he returned Anderson said to him:

"Do you know that your handwriting is very like that of the man I mistook you for?"

"How do you know that?" asked Loving.

"I could not help seeing the address on the letter you left on the table when you went out."

"Are you familiar with this man—what's his name?"

"Pierson."

"Pierson's handwriting?"

"Yes."

"How did you become so?"

"Well, the fact is that Pierson was a suitor for the hand of a woman I know."

"And she showed you his letters?"

"She did once."

"Did she consider that honorable?"

"Well, the truth is I had heard things about Pierson, and the lady being my friend, I thought it my duty to tell her. She showed me a letter to convince me that I was mistaken, but I convinced her at last."

Loving did not seem to take enough interest in the matter to follow it further.

"I wonder," said Anderson, "if your signature is as much like Pierson's as your handwriting is."

"We're not of the same name."

"Write his name, Richard G. Pierson."

Loving wrote the name and showed it to Anderson, who studied it carefully. "I think I have a note from Pierson," he said. "I'll get it and compare the two signatures."

Going to his room, he returned with the note. It simply informed Mr. Anderson that a certain request of his could not be granted.

"Not even an expert," said Anderson, "could tell the signatures apart."

He looked up at Loving and found Loving looking at him with a changed, a cunning, expression.

"Let's drop this feigning," said the latter. "I understand what you are up to."

"Well?"

"I'm your man, but I won't have anything to do with the matter—except the penmanship."

"You mean—"

"I'll write the check. You'll have to do the rest."

"You tumble too easily. I'm afraid of you."

"Nothing risked, nothing gained."

"What amount do you propose to go for?"

"What do you propose? This is your suggestion. I suppose you have figured on getting funds out of this man before and are posted on what he will stand."

This was true. Anderson had figured on getting funds from Pierson and knew where he kept his bank account and what was his credit. It was agreed between the two men that Loving should draw a check for $25,000 on a certain bank in New York where Anderson knew Pierson kept an average balance of $50,000 he used for margins on stock operations. The rascals were to go to New York together to perpetrate the swindle. One thing Loving insisted on, to which Anderson demurred—Loving claimed that since he would do the forging he alone would be guilty. Anderson could throw the whole burden on him. Loving also changed his mind about the method of drawing the money. Resembling Pierson so closely, he would need no identification at the bank. He could present the check with certainty that it would be paid without question. He therefore required Anderson to write him a proposition to get $25,000 out of Pierson by forging his name and personating him. Loving refused to proceed with the matter until Anderson gave him this paper, and Anderson finally consented.

The conspirators parted to meet in New York on a certain day in September. Anderson went first, in order to investigate Pierson's bank account with a view to determining if it would stand a draft upon it such as was mediated. Anderson wished to defer the execution of the paper Loving required till the time of drawing the money, but Loving refused to go to New York at all without the paper in his possession. He succeeded in convincing his pal that a proposition to perpetrate a fraud was not in the eye of the law the same as perpetrating a fraud. Indeed, there was a great difference. This removed Anderson's objections so far as to induce him to sign the paper.

When the day appointed came round Anderson and Loving met in the lobby of a New York hotel.

"Well," said Loving, "what do you know?"

"I know that a certain lady on whom Pierson has long been sweet is in the city. Therefore it is probable that Pierson himself is not far off, though he's not so thick with her as he was."

"You mean since you broke up the intimacy between them?"

"Well, that's about it."

"How could you, a crook, prejudice a lady against a gentleman?"

"I've never been in a scheme like this before. I belong to a good family."

"Well, never mind your family. What have you found out about Pierson's bank balance?"

"He had over $70,000 in bank yesterday."

"How did you find it out?"

"I'm in with one of the bookkeepers."

"Ah! You are! Well, did you get one of the bank's blank checks?"

"Yes. Here it is."

He produced his pocketbook and took out several blank checks. "The only risk," he said, "is this—Pierson's checks have printed numbers on them. The teller may notice this is not numbered."

"I'll fix that by calling for one of the bank's checks and signing it right there before him."

"Good! I never thought of that. Then you can pay me my share, and he'll think you drew the money for a special purpose."

The same afternoon the two men entered the bank where Pierson kept his account. Loving went to the paying teller's window and said:

"Goodwin, give me a blank check. I want some money."

"All right, Mr. Pierson." And he handed the bit of paper through the window.

Loving took it to a shelf where were writing materials and wrote the check and signed it with as firm a hand as if he were drawing his own money.

"You're a cool one," said Anderson, who was trembling like a leaf.

Loving presented the check and asked for the money in $500 bills. The two men waited till the sum was counted, then received it through the teller's window.

As they left the bank Anderson drew a long breath. "You did that splendidly," he said. "How could you keep your nerve?"

"An honest man's nerve is never strained by his conscience," replied the other. "I drew my own money."

"What do you mean?" asked Anderson, starting.

"I am Richard Pierson, the man whom your lying tongue separated from Virginia Markland. You needn't shiver; you are in no danger. I have simply got you down in black and white that you are a swindler. How you ever fooled a lady of Mrs. Markland's good sense is a mystery to me, though I admit you are as plausible a rascal as I ever met. Now go before I kick you down these steps."

Anderson lost no time in obeying the order, and Pierson, re-entering the bank, deposited the money he had drawn.

That evening he sent a card up to Virginia Markland, who was staying at one of the uptown hotels. On it was written, "I have an explanation to make." He met the lady in her parlor, but was coldly received.

"It is only recently," he said, "that by accident I have discovered what poisoned you against me. I confess that I am astonished at your having listened to a man who should be in state prison."

"To whom do you refer?"

"Edward Anderson."

"Mr. Anderson is a gentleman."

"If you think so read this."

He drew the contract by which he and Anderson were to obtain money by forgery. Then he told the story of how he acquired it.

The lady admitted that without this written evidence she would not have believed that one she had long honored with her friendship could be a common swindler. She asked forgiveness and was forgiven.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constant use failed to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

For sale by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Can be Paid at Bank

For the convenience of its subscribers The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania has selected The First National Bank as a local institution where moneys due them can be paid and receipts in full furnished for such payments.

As a subscriber to The Bell Telephone Company, we beg to extend to you the facilities thus made possible in connection with your business with the Telephone Company. Our Banking House is open every business day from 9 a. m., to 3 p. m., where we shall be pleased to aid you in the transaction of your business.

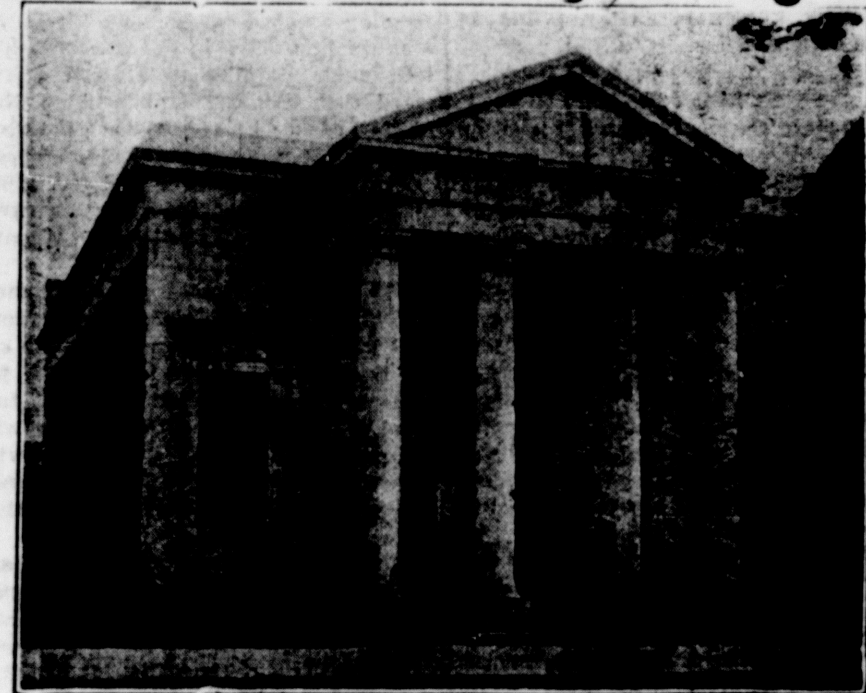

Yours Truly,

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Samuel Bushman, Cashier.

Farmers!

C. W. Bream, Biglerville, will pay the highest cash price for Hay and Straw, or will bale it by the ton. United Phone.

BANK NOTICE

The Directors of The Gettysburg National Bank take pleasure in announcing that they are now occupying their new Banking House on York street. The public are cordially invited to call and see our new building. During business hours our Gentlemen's Writing Room and Ladies' Reception Room are at the disposal of our patrons and their friends. Our lock boxes are given to our depositors free of charge. We thank our patrons for their business and will endeavor by our courtesy, fidelity and promptness to continue to deserve their confidence and patronage.

The Gettysburg National Bank
E. M. BENDER Cashier. Wm. McSHERRY, President

Protect your Health

by using pure ice made from distilled water. Germs of every kind (and especially typhoid) lurk in open ponds and streams. These germs are not destroyed they are preserved for your later use when frozen into ice.

All ice of the Gettysburg Ice & Storage Company is made from carefully distilled water and delivered by prompt courteous men.

Phone your order Both Phones

Gettysburg Ice & Storage Co.

A complete line of Extension Ladders and a full assortment of sizes of the Famous Tilley Fruit Picking Ladders for sale at

S. G. BIGHAM'S

Hardware Store,

Both Phones,

Biglerville, Pa

Roofs Guaranteed

I am prepared to put on the latest kinds of galvanized roofing, guaranteed to last through all kinds of weather for 15 years without paint.

C. C. RIDER,

United Telephone

25 W. Middle St.,

Gettysburg Pa

More Hair for Men, Women, Children

People's Drug Store Has the Secret and Gives it to the Readers of the Gettysburg Times.

To properly treat the hair so that it will grow abundantly and luxuriantly, one should first banish dandruff and stop falling hair and itching scalp. This can easily be done with Parisian Sage, sold by People's Drug Store with an absolute guarantee to cure dandruff, to stop all falling hair and itching scalp, or money back.

It cures dandruff by killing the germs, and it kills them so promptly that the most skeptical give it praise.

But Parisian Sage is more than a cure for dandruff—it will make hair grow on any head where the hair bulb is not altogether dead.

And we want every reader of the Gettysburg Times to know that Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair dressing in the world. It is so pleasant to use, and its effect is so invigorating that it causes the hair to become lustrous, fascinating and full of life.

Large bottles only 50 cents at People's Drug Store and druggists everywhere. Girl with the Auburn hair on every package.

The Explorers.

Several members of a boat club at Frankfort-on-the-Main recently resolved to row to Mayence by night. It was just 12 o'clock when they started themselves in their boat, grasped their oars and bade their friends on shore farewell. They pulled vigorously all night, greatly enjoying the healthful exercise, the gloom and quiet and the weird beauty of the river. Their own chagrin and the wild delight of their friends may be imagined when they found at sunrise they had forgotten to weigh anchor and were still fast to the boat from which they embarked. They are now known to all Frankfort as "the explorers."

Bright Boy.

A certain business man of Rochester is of the opinion that he has an exceedingly bright office boy, and nothing pleases him better than to tell how he acquired the youngster's services. A notice had been posted in the man's shop window which read as follows: "Boy wanted about fourteen years."

A lad of that age, with little that was prepossessing in his appearance, came into the office and stated that he had read the notice.

"So you think you would like to have the position?" asked the merchant patronizingly as he gazed at the lad over the rims of his spectacles.

"Yes, sir," was the reply; "I want the job, but I don't know that I can promise to keep it for the full fourteen years."

Cures Rheumatism

If It Don't You Can Get Your Money Back, Says People's Drug Store.

Now when People's Drug Store, the well known druggist, makes such an offer as that, where, Oh, where is the man or woman full of Uric Acid poison, which is the same as Rheumatism, who is going to turn it down?

People's Drug Store have sold a whole lot of Rheuma these last few months, and if it didn't do as advertised they could not afford to make the offer.

Here is more proof: Porter Smith, Dobbin, W. Va., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism for about 25 years, and the disease had become chronic. I began taking Rheuma with little faith in its virtues, but was better from the first day I began its use, and at this time have no more pains."—Feb. 20, 1910.

Rheuma never shirks its duty. It begins with the first dose to act on the kidneys, liver, stomach and blood, and to eliminate Rheumatic poison from the whole system. 30 cts. at People's Drug Store, or mailed by Rheuma Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Send for free trial bottle.

G. R. THOMPSON, Auctioneer has changed his address from Granite Hill to Gettysburg R. D. 8.

PUBLIC SALE

Tuesday, September 20th.

Another carload of especially good driving and general purpose horses from West Virginia.

At this sale will be sold an exceptionally well bred young saddle horse with five gaits.

F. K. Hafer's Stables,

Abbottstown, Pa.

Good Old Fashioned Picnic

A NEW DANCING FLOOR

has been erected at Nary's Mill and an old fashioned picnic will be held there on SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17.

Dancing afternoon and evening.

Refreshments of all kinds will be served on the ground

John A. Menchey.

CARRIED OFF BY A LION.

Thrilling Experience of a Ranger in the Transvaal.

Two men at least have given accounts of their sensations when they were carried off by lions—the great explorer Livingstone and a man named Wolhuter, a ranger of game preserves in the Transvaal. Wolhuter's adventure is not secondary in interest to Livingstone's experience. His story, which was attested by the certificate of the magistrate of the district, was substantially as follows:

He was riding along a Kafir path about an hour after sunset. It had been a long march, and he had pushed on ahead of his companions. His dog barked at something, and a moment later Wolhuter saw a lion crouching close to him on the right hand side. The ranger turned his horse sharply, a circumstance that no doubt caused the lion to miss the spring.

Wolhuter was unseated. At the same moment he saw another lion coming from the opposite direction. The horse rushed off, with the first lion in pursuit, and the second lion picked Wolhuter up almost before he touched the ground and gripped him by the right shoulder in such a position that he was face up, with his legs and body dragging underneath the beast. The lion trotted down the path, uttering a loud, growling, purring noise.

Wolhuter's sensations were not those of Livingstone, who said he was in a state of apathy, with entire absence of pain during the time the lion had him. The game ranger suffered terribly, both mentally and physically, and saw no possible way of escape. The lion took him nearly 200 yards.

Suddenly Wolhuter brought him to his sheath knife, which he carried in his belt behind his right hip. On reaching a large tree with many hanging roots the lion stopped, whereon Wolhuter stabbed him twice in the side with his left hand. It was ascertained afterward that the first stab touched the bottom of the heart and that the second one slit it down for some distance.

The lion immediately dropped Wolhuter, and again the game ranger struck him, this time in the throat, severing an artery.

The lion jumped back and stood facing him, growling. Wolhuter scrambled to his feet, shouting at the top of his lungs. He expected the beast to come at him again, but it did not. Instead, it turned slowly and, still growling, went a few paces. Soon its growls turned to moans. "These, in turn, ceased, and the ranger knew that the beast was then dead.

Wolhuter got up the tree as fast as his injured arm would permit, and hardly was he seated when the first lion, which had been after the horse, came back on the trail of blood. By this time the plucky ranger was so faint that he tied himself to the tree to prevent himself from falling out.

He was found by his companions, who took him to a place of safety. The lion he had killed was an old male, and the weapon used was an ordinary sheath knife.—New York Tribune.

The Advice Seeker.

"When a man asks me for advice," said the good natured person, "I always find myself getting into a discussion."

"Well," replied Mr. Sirius Barker, "most of us ask for advice because we would rather argue than work."—Washington Star.

Unpeeled.

Mr. Recentmarrie (who has plunged a spoon into dish preparatory to helping to the pudding)—Why, Mary, I feel some hard, smooth, round things in the dish. I wonder what they can be. Mrs. Recentmarrie—Why, they're eggs, John: there are six, just as the recipe says.—Chicago News.

Stupid People.

Traveler—Haven't you a time table? Station Agent—We used to have one until the people began to think the trains were supposed to keep to it.—Fliegende Blätter.

Happiness is reflective, like the light of heaven.—Irvine.

Grandpa's Money

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Jacob Brown, farmer, had come to be sixty-five years old when he got his money. A brother whom he had not seen for years died and left him $30,000 in cash. For the five years preceding the old man had been a widower and lived alone. He had four children, two sisters and half a dozen more distant relatives living around him, but no one had offered him a home. It was seldom that any of them came near him. He was referred to as "the old man," and the few acres of his stony old farm were not coveted by any one.

When it became known through a lawyer that old Jacob had struck it rich there was busting. His oldest son, Henry, was the first to reach his house. He brought his wife and three children along, and he galloped his horses for the last mile. It had been two years since they had been in the old man's house. Now they shook hands with him. The son patted him on the back and called him a glorious old father. He must give up his farm and go home and live with them. For the rest of his days he could sit in a rocking chair and have custard pie three times a day.

On the way to Henry's home James and his family were met as they came driving. James was the second son. He had often been heard to wonder why the old man didn't turn up his toes and get out of the world, but he wasn't a bad son—that is, he had never thought of killing his father with a club. James leaped from his wagon to embrace his father and offer him a home for the next hundred years. He should have fried chicken and milk toast every day, and the best bed in the house should be his at night. No one should rout him out in the morning, and fresh tea should await him when he desired to arise.

Henry and James were squabbling when Hannah and Mary, the two daughters, drove up with their husbands. They had come for father. They had heard that he was ill and were going to take him home and nurse him more tenderly than a baby with measles.

There was a row on the highway between those devoted children that was heard a mile away, but Henry gained the victory and bore the father away. That night his house was surrounded by the two sisters and other relatives, and they had to be menaced by a shotgun.

At the beginning of the row there was only one lawyer in Glendale, the nearest village. Within a year there were three. It required at least three to keep track of the suits and motions that came up.

One stipulation that old Jacob made was that he should be privileged to see his lawyer as often as he wanted to. That was respected by all, but from purely selfish motives. It came to be believed that every time he saw his lawyer he changed his will. It turned out that this belief was well founded. When death came at last it was found that he had made forty-two wills in all. They had bobbed from Henry to James, from James to Betsey and from Betsey to Hannah and back to James. They had taken in the two sisters and cast them out. They had enriched nephews and nieces and impoverished them again. Four times in one year the father was kidnapped by relatives. Once he was chloroformed in his bed at midnight and lowered from a window. Once he was kidnapped and hidden away in an old barn for a week.

That neighborhood became the liveliest in the state. There was a Fourth of July going on all the time. Even a circus could not draw against it. No old man ever lived who was coddled and cared for more. A hundred times a day, no matter who he was with, he was asked if anything more could be done for him. In summer a child was appointed to fan him, and in winter they bought stoves with looking glasses set into the top that he might see himself as he toasted his toes. The doctor said that he would have lived three years longer if left to care for himself on his farm.

Queerly enough, he did not die in the house of a relative, but was stricken in the office of his lawyer just after making his forty-second will. The gang came on the wings of love as soon as the news went out. They squabbled as to where the funeral should be held, as to where he should be buried, as to who should pay for the coffin, as to who should weep the most.

The will was not read at the house of any relative. They wouldn't have it so. They assembled in the village hall, and there were scores of outsiders. There were quarrels for front seats. At last the reading began, and it took two constables to protect the lawyer from being massacred on the spot.

"As all my relatives from my oldest son down to my youngest niece have been equally kind to me," read the paper, "I hereby will and bequeath to each and every one the sum of $1!"

And the balance of that $30,000 went to the county of Hope to improve its highways. There were six or seven suits to break the will, but it couldn't be done. Jacob Brown had read human nature right and had made the best disposition possible of his fortune. It may be said in conclusion that every single relative took his dollar.

Tolerance.

Jane—I've something on my mind. 'Arry, that I hardly knows how to tell yer.

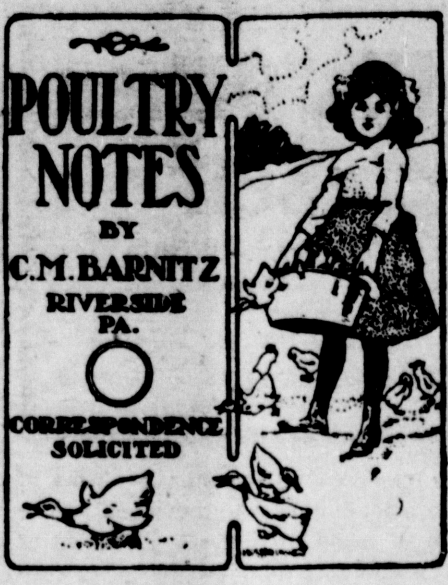

'Arry—Aht wiv it.

Jane—I'm afraid yer won't marry me if I tells yer.

'Arry—Aht wiv it.

Jane—I'm a sonnambulist, 'Arry.

'Arry (after prolonged pauses)—Never mind, Jane, I'll be all right. If there ain't no chapel for it we'll be married at a registry.—London Fun.

[These articles and illustrations must not be reprinted without special permission.]

A BAD "BASE BAWL CLUB."

There is a club, Oh, hoo, hoo, hoo! It bawls round everywhere. Each member has a crooked mouth. Drawn down by tons of care.

Each member has a store of groans—They make groans by wholesale—And when they sigh and cry, "Oh, my!" What a tremendous wail!

Each member has a stack of frowns—They make frowns by the ton—A frown they'd place on each sweet face And leave no room for fun.

Each member lives in a black cloud—They make clouds while you wait—They'd like to take our smiling skies And paint them nasty slate.

Each member has a tear bag big. And when they squeeze tears out You better stand from under, friend; There'll be a waterspout.

But let these croaks go "Boo, hoo, hoo!" They'll get the ha-ha here. This pretty world is not for sighs, Our future not for fear.

"Laugh and grow fat." Ha, ha! That's good!

Be kind, be true. That's fine! Let others bawl their blind eyes out, I say. No whine in mine!

Moral.—Abstain from whine. C. M. BARNITZ.

CELIBACY FOR COCKERELS.

Feathers oft hide a multitude of skinny young roosters at market, but when the thin blue-shanked carcass is revealed it is difficult for the cook's anger to be concealed.

That bird might have been plump and pretty if the farmer had kept him from running after the hens and fed him to a finish.

This does not refer to culls.

A cull once a cull always.

To the cook pot with the culls.

This includes the grannies of the flock—those long legged, knockkneed pullets and cockerels that eat and eat, but gain no meat. Many do not care to caponize surplus cockerels. They do not wish to operate, or they do not wish to wait for them to grow.

BEAUTIFUL BACHELORS.

The practical fellow, however, pens his young roosters alone in a quiet place where they have little room for exercise and plumps them up with the following finisher fed for three weeks three times a day:

Ground oats 2 parts

Ground barley 2 parts

Ground corn 2 parts

This is wet up in whole milk, skim milk or buttermilk, seasoned with salt.

When cockerels for breeders or show get sporty they should be kept away from the hens, as they are thus often robbed of breeding vitality and become stunted for exhibition. This will give peace to the pullets and thus afford a better maturity, and the old hens will finish the molt better and lay quicker.

Both may be thus fed separate rations as necessary, and the plumage of both sexes will not be spoiled for show.

Should cockerels in bachelor quarters bicker and fight an old cock for boss will keep them all right.

LON'TS.

Don't feed white wheat to pigeons. It is undigested, sours and causes scours.

Don't refuse to do an enemy a favor. It may make him a friend in the end.

Don't let the cornerb open for the turkeys to stuff. Such filler is sure turkey killer.

Don't feed much hemp to squab breeders. Makes them too fat, say scientific feeders.

Don't say amen on Sunday and give your chickens no water on Monday. An amen corner seat in a church society is no proof of a corner on piety.

Don't put oats away on the sheaf with the idea that when you're away the mice won't play. Oats taste "miley nice" to mice.

A Good Actor.

"I see you have an actor employed on the farm."

"Yes, I put him on. He's a darn good actor too. I thought he was working the first week he was here."—Kansas City Times.

The Little Things.

It is not the straining for great things that is most effective; it is the doing the little things, the common duties, a little better and better—the constant improving—that tells.

BOTH WELL SEASONED.

The Man a Hotter Proposition Than the Beverage.

One night not long ago Jim Corbett, John W. Bratton, W. W. Denslow and other kindred spirits were gathered about a table in a New York cafe talking about the fight out in Reno, that is, the recent fight. Jim Corbett was telling about what he thought of the battle, and the rest of the party were extremely interested. One Michael Claffy, a rich old contractor, had "butted in" on the strength of having met Corbett after the Sullivan encounter in New Orleans, back in the middle ages.

At every statement of Corbett's Claffy would break in with some comment. The rest of the gathering began to think of some way of making him keep quiet, and Bratton, looking about the table, espied a bottle of tabasco sauce. While Claffy's back was turned he shook several drops of the hot stuff into the old contractor's glass of beer and urged him to "drink up and have another." The rest of them winked and waited for Claffy to swallow the liquid fire. But he was too busy talking.

Then Corbett, growing impatient, unscrewed the top of the pepper bottle and poured its entire contents into Claffy's glass, stirring it well together. "Oh, drink up, old man," said he, "for old time's sake, and have a fresh one with me."

THE GLASS REACHED HIS MOUTH.

Claffy, without noticing the reddish color of his beer, raised the glass to his whiskered lips. The rest of them, expecting that he would drop dead from the terrible dose, got ready to catch him. The glass reached his mouth, his silk hatted head went back, and down his throat, at one fell swallow, went the epitomized Hades. And then—

Smacking his lips carelessly, but without turning a hair, Claffy, Esq., turned to Corbett and asked:

"By the way, Jim, what ever become of that big stiff, Peter Maher?"

And that was all it did to him!—New York World.

A Stop Order.

Maud—Tom had me talk into a photograph so he can hear my voice while I'm away. Clara—How lovely! And he can stop the machine!—Puck.

SHOES

TO SUIT EVERYBODY

...SHOES...

for Fall and Winter Wear for Men, Women, Boys and Girls.

...PRICES...

to suit your pocketbook.

TRY A PAIR OF FELLOWCRAFT OR RALSTON SHOES FOR MEN.

THE BEST IN THE MARKET.

O. H. LESTZ,
CORNER CENTRE SQUARE & CARLISLE ST.

Public Auction

Sat. Afternoon, Sept. 17, at 1 o'clock

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction a big lot of Second Hand Furniture, Carpets, Stoves and most anything you are wanting for house-keeping.

CHARLES S. MUMPER.

People Who Think Twice

about what they eat, who insist on the best and purest ingredients handled under conditions of absolute cleanliness will be delighted with

Belle Mead Sweets

Chocolates and Bon Bons

Just chocolate, sugar, fruit and nuts of the very finest quality made in the cleanest candy kitchen in the world, and served in dainty packages that are sealed till the buyer opens them.

FOR SALE BY

People's Drug Store

G. W. WEAVER & SON

G. W. WEAVER & SON

THE LEADERS

FALL 1910

The New Suits

The New Coats

Are Here

Special

Full length all worsted

Coats, Navy and Black at $12.00 the $15.00 values

off other seasons.

NEW STOCK

COMING IN

ALMOST

EVERY

DAY

N. B.—There are still good pickings of

Waists, Skirts, Corsets and

Muslin Underwear—Under Price